Great Partnerships

It goes without saying that Supportive Housing relies on its partnerships between developers and service providers to bring opportunities for people to live a life of independence and health. The challenge has always been financing and the dream has always been to create an environment where more people can enjoy supportive housing's benefits. Today that dream has become a reality. Truman Square, a new and innovative collaboration between Pennrose and Triple C Housing brings services to all 172 residents in the heart of Edison.
